

CSS Float and Clear

September 26, 2020

TIP

when using percentage in sizing, the element is sized according to its parent element float and clear

floating is when we want to wrap around something. clear is when we don't want to be wrapped when using a float nearby only use float when it's really needed, and for its purpose: wrapping text around an element don't use it for positioning. use position for positioning
